

Target Setting in the Sixth Form

At Moor Park you have become used to teachers setting targets for your achievement in each of the subjects you are studying at GCSE. These targets are based on what is happening at high-achieving and successful schools like Moor Park from right across the country.

When you progress into the Sixth Form at Moor Park, it will not be a surprise to you therefore when you find your teachers sharing similarly stretching and challenging targets with you in the first few days of Year 12. At AS and A Level these targets are based on the exam results achieved by the very best school sixth forms and colleges in the country.

These challenging targets are a reflection of the high expectations that the Head and the teaching staff have of you all. At Moor Park you will not be set targets that ask you to be 'average' – we want you to be the best you can, and we expect after two years in the Sixth Form you will be producing results that will be matching the best in the country.

If you...

put in that extra effort and commitment over the next few weeks, you will be investing in your future AS/A Level achievement in the Sixth Form as well as gaining extra GCSE grades.

Educational research has proved that your GCSE achievements are the most accurate predictor of your final A Level results – i.e., the better you do in your GCSEs, the better you are likely to do in your AS and A levels.

This is really encouraging information as there is still time for you to make sure that your results in your GCSEs are as good as they possible can be.
